DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This stone farmhouse is a two story, five bay structure built into a steep slope so that two stories are exposed at the front or east elevation while three full stories are exposed at the rear. The front elevation is sheltered by a double porch which extends along the entire wall. The front wall under the porch has been sheathed with stucco or roughcast. Windows and doors are placed at irregular intervals in the walls. Six over six pane sashes are used at both stories and window and door frames are narrow. All the three story west elevation evidence remains of a window, perhaps in a stairwell which has been enclosed. A two story frame addition or enclosed porch is attached to the back of the house. Behind the house is a stone spring house and nearby is a frame bank barn.
